

Komatsu Gender Pay Gap Report 2023

Introduction

What is the Gender Pay Gap?

The gender pay gap is the average difference between the remuneration for men and women in an organisation, irrespective of their roles. In the UK, all employers with more than 250 employees are legally required to report their Gender Pay Gap.

How is Gender Pay Gap different to Equal Pay?

Equal Pay requires that men and women who carry out the same or similar jobs or work of equal value, are paid the same.

We are confident that men and women at KUK are paid on equal terms for performing the same job across the Company. Where men and women are in the same role, women are earning the same as their male colleagues.

At KUK we want to attract and retain the best people regardless of their background, race, ethnicity or gender and all have an equal opportunity to achieve their potential.

How is the Gender Pay Gap calculated?

The Mean

The Mean Gender Pay Gap is an average. It is calculated by adding together the relevant payments to all male employees and dividing by the total number of male employees. The same calculation is done for all female employees. The Mean Gender Pay Gap is the difference between the mean figures for men and women.

The Median

The Median Gender Pay Gap is calculated by listing all male and female employees' wages from highest to lowest and comparing the number that sits in the middle for each. The difference in pay between the two individuals is the Median Pay Gap figure.
